LONDON'S IMMORALITY.

The Pall Mall Gazette's Appalling Disclosures Bearing Good Fruit.

England Swept by a Cyclone of Horror and Astonishment.

When the Pall Mall Gazette in the early part of this month launched upon the world its famous articles on the "Maiden Tribute of Modern Babylon" every expedient was resorted to in order to break the force of the appalling disclosures. Beyond doubt it was a bold strike for the conductor of that journal to undertake, but having consulted many eminent divines, philanthropists and others on the subject, Mr. Stead, the editor, felt secure in the knowledge that he was taking a step in the right direction. His motives for the course adopted have been impugned. This was to be expected for the revelations made through his instrumentality have created the most profound sensation that has agitated the people for many a day, in fact they swept England by a cyclone of horror and astonishment. There are those to be found who, like our morning contemporary, the Colonist, while questioning the propriety of dragging such abominations into light lose not an opportunity to fill their columns with matter of a much more questionable nature, than that which has yet appeared in connection with the startling affair, and even go the length of censuring such of the press as have, in the cause of humanity, published extracts from the Gazette. To-day THE TIMES gives extracts from some of the leading journals whose standing on the score of purity and religion is beyond dispute, which fortifies the position taken by this journal and completely dispelling the ill-judged remarks of the Colonist, and journals of that stamp. In the name of all that is holy and true, unless the press published such facts as the Gazette gives light to, how can it be possible to rectify the evil, protect the true and the innocent? We are persuaded that much good will result from the investigations now being held, although cynical apologists have urged that as the existence of the horrible evils were generally known, that as these things had existed in ancient civilization, what was the use of minding them? let the dark, poisonous river roll to the wide ocean of destruction.

The Pall Mall Budget, in referring to the horrors of the Pall Mall Gazette, asserts that "it is an authentic record of facts abominable, unutterable, and worse than fables yet have feigned or been conceived," and nothing short of an overwhelming sense of public duty would have led to its being given to the world. But the ghastly record is unimpeachably true, and as an effort, in however slight a degree, to protect those who cannot protect themselves from inexpiable wrong, it was felt necessary, after due warning to its readers, to publish the case for the passing of the bill." The Gazette now states that "the report of our secret commission will be read with a shuddering horror that will thrill the world." The evidence leaves no room for doubt. * * We do not believe that members on the eve of a general election will refuse to consider the bill protecting the daughters of the poor, which even the House of Lords has in three consecutive years declared to be imperatively necessary. * * * * If people can only be got to think seriously about this matter, progress will be made in the right direction. Evils once as universal and apparently inevitable as prostitution have disappeared. Vices almost universal are now regarded with shuddering horror by the least moral of men. Slavery has gone. A slave trader is treated as hostis humani generis. Piracy has disappeared. Intestine war is almost unknown. Torture has been abolished. May we not hope, therefore, that if we try to do our duty to our sisters and to ourselves, we may greatly reduce, even although we never entirely extirpate the plague of prostitution? For let us remember that—

> Every hope that rises and grows broad
> In the world's heart, by ordered impulse streams
> From that great heart of God.

And if that ideal seems too blinding bright for human eyes, we can at least do much to save the innocent victims who unwillingly we swept in the maelstrom of vice. And who is there among us bearing the name of man who will dare to sit down any longer with folded hands in the presence of so great a wrong.

No society that is based on such rottenness as that which we are exposing can long endure without some great change. The revelation of these things if not followed by reformation may be the precursor of convulsion. "Rest awhile, children of wretchedness." Yet is the day of retribution, nigh:—

> When stung to rage by Pity, eloquent men
> Will rouse with pealing voice the nnnumber'd tribes.
> That toil and groan and bleed, hungry and blind.

Montreal Witness:—There is no detraction too mean for the enemies of good morals to indulge in with regard to the pending crusade against iniquity. There are also cold-blooded moralists who would apparently prefer that the abominations should go on, to having the public shocked and childhood and its guardians warned. It is the part of the press, while solicitously avoiding all prurient detail, to let the warning of the facts have its full force, that poor girls may no longer be entrapped and marketed as easily as pigeons, while piety and charity keep their eyes and their mouths shut.

Canada Presbyterian: The Pall Mall Gazette is publishing a series of papers on the immorality of the upper classes in England that have shocked the English-speaking world. The revelations are sickening—horrible in the extreme. * * * Of course, the usual question comes up—should such horrible revelations be published even if true? It is affirmed that one or more of the Archbishops, Mr. Spurgeon, Earl Shaftesbury, Mr. Samuel Morley, M. P., and other representative men favor publication. * * * It seems to us there is but one question to solve: Is the good that is undoubtedly being accomplished by exposure greater than the evil caused by exposure? If so, then exposure is duty, a terrible duty it may be, but still a duty. * * * * The hideous disclosures of this moral pestilence are the first steps leading to an effective cure. Virtuous England will not remain inactive under the stigma of this terrible reproach.

Brooklyn Union: The fine moral indignation over the disclosures of the Pall Mall Gazette of newspapers whose columns are studded with the advertisements of abortionists, procuresses and houses of assignation is one of the most instructive spectacles of the time.

Montreal Times: We think we are fully justified, in view of the fact that Montreal is reputed to be full of the same class of crime and immorality that has been exposed by the Pall Mall Gazette, in publishing not a mere sketch but a series of extended cablegrams. * * The crusade that it has inaugurated and successfully waged against the terrible moneyed monster, which by means of wealth and position has been able to purchase and destroy virtue at a low price will, we doubt not, be productive of the most beneficial results.

St. Paul Pioneer Press: It is a piece of arrant hypocrisy to try and saddle upon Western journalism the responsibility of printing the London revelations. The very article in which the New York Post delivers itself of its horror is brimfull of glaring advertisement of the London Pall Mall Gazette's articles, and is strongly calculated to induce its readers to buy the defiled newspapers which contain the "nastiness." To be consistent, the Post should not have alluded to the business at all.

Un-Sportsmanlike Doings.

We are credibly informed that parties are at present shooting young ducks at Beaver Lake, and that seven grouse were killed last Sunday in the vicinity of Cedar Hill. A short time ago parties visited Skinner's swamp with dogs, hunting young ducks unable to fly. It is not a very well known fact that the government have a man employed to detect persons hunting game out of season, but such is the fact, which has only been known to a few. A prominent business man and sportsman remarked to-day that the position was given to obtain a little "gov't pap." That the paid official is unequal to fill such a position is evident from the above slaughter which has been going on. While we do not think that one man can scour the country in one and every day, looking for guilty parties, yet the plan proposed by a certain M. D. should be looked upon as the only feasible one without expense to the country. It is that there are a number of farmers scattered over the country, within a twenty mile radius of Victoria, who would act as special constables, solely to protect game in the close season, and arrest parties shooting during that period. The M. D. referred to took the trouble to set such a plan in operation by having one farmer sworn in as a special constable, and making arrangements for others to follow the same course, when he was politely told that the Attorney General would have to be consulted. This last "red tape" proceedings burked a benefit to all true sportsmen of Victoria, and surrounding country.

CHARGED WITH ROBBERY.

A Hackman Accused of Going Through A Man.

Wm. Nicholson, charged with stealing $50 from Thos. Whitting on the 27th inst. Complainant was sworn and said that he engaged prisoner to drive him to the California saloon between 9 and 11 a. m. yesterday; instead of taking him there he took him to a house where there were women; could not say where it was; did not stay long and did not spend any money; perhaps he may have treated there; they then went to the saloon, and afterwards prisoner and a companion pushed him into the carriage and drove him to the woods; did not know in what direction, but they crossed a bridge and went about a mile; prisoner and companion stopped the carriage and demanded pay, and then went through his pockets and took all his money, excepting about $6 in silver; they must have taken at least $25 in bank notes. Afterwards he was so excited he did not know how he got back to town; did not know whether he walked or rode back, but he got there some way.

To Mr. Taylor:—Came to town last Saturday evening; was in the habit of drinking liquor; had taken three or four drinks that morning; drank another at the California; had refused to pay for hack because he had been told it would not cost anything; could not say what sort of bills he had got out of the bank; prisoner's companion was a smaller man with sandy whiskers; did not know whether they threatened him or not.

George Anderson testified that he saw the prosecutor, prisoner and another man at the California Saloon yesterday, when prosecutor was paying the owner four bits; he saw four or five bills in his hands; it was about three o'clock in the afternoon; complainant was then pretty drunk; when he returned it was after dark.

At this stage the case was remanded until Friday, prisoner to get bail to the amount of $250.

Indian Hop Pickers.

The Port Townsend Argus says that a deputation of Indians arrived on Saturday morning from Clyquot, west coast of this island with Sedakanim, head chief, and Artlyn, his son. They called on Judge Swan, who kindly explained to them that the hop pickers will not receive as much pay as formerly, as the price of hops is so low that hop growers cannot afford to pay big prices. Nearly two thousand Indians have already arrived at the hop fields, and more are going from the north and from Cape Flattery. It is probable that from five to six thousand Indians will go from the tribes of British Columbia, but most of whom will return home after they have found out the low prices of hops.

Sooke News.

The fires in Sooke have done considerable damage. A well-known one-armed shopper lost his house and contents, and a field of oats, near the entrance to Happy Valley, was also consumed. There are a number of other fires in the neighborhood, but they are all under the control of the settlers.

The crops are light. Hay nearly all saved.

A man named Phillips has taken out six hundred logs for Mr. Sayward, and has got them in the water.

Henry Anderson and J. Anderson have started a logging camp two miles below Otter Point, where they secured a timber reserve.

An Omission Supplied.

Mr. Abrams, who is mentioned in the Colonist in Sunday morning's issue as the popular agent of Weil & Woodleaf, is the same commercial traveler that Mr. W. R. Bull was compelled to serve with a summons from the Police Court before he would pay the license fee due from commercial travelers. There was a great omission in the name not appearing in the notice, as by not being mentioned it is a slur upon other commercial travelers who honorably pay their license.

FROM ALASKA.

The Ancon Arrives this Morning and Leaves for Portland.

First Month's run of the Treadwell Mine Gives $100,000.

The steamship Ancon, Captain Carroll, from Alaska, arrived at the outer wharf this morning at 3 a. m. In addition to the passenger list of excursionists published on the up trip, the following gentlemen were passengers from Alaska: Governor Kincaid, Messrs. M. C. Hillyer, Marshall, Haskett, District Attorney; Mrs. McFarland, Rev. Father Althop and Mr. David Martin; from Cassiar, Mr. J. McAlister.

TREADWELL MINE,

on Douglas Island, has made its first shipment of treasure for its first month's run of the 120 stamp mill, which amounts to nearly $100,000, at an expense of not more than 15 per cent of the gross proceeds. This must be very gratifying to the owners, who have been most enterprising in erecting in that distant country the largest quartz mill on the continent. It is expected that the output for the next month will reach the handsome sum of $250,000. These excellent returns will attract the attention of mining men to this part of the coast. Experts who have been at the mine say that it is the biggest thing in the world.

PLACER MINING IN GENERAL

in Takou is quiet, as at this season of the year hydraulic claims are preparing to clean up later on. Business is about as usual, with nothing of interest to note.

PERSONAL ITEMS.

Governor Kincaid has been for some time indisposed and comes south for medical advice. The Marshal and District Attorney do not expect to return to Alaska, as it is understood that other officers have been appointed to fill those positions. The Ancon will on the arrival here of the steamer leaving San Francisco on the 6th proximo.

AGAIN SAIL FOR ALASKA

CASSIAR NEWS.

Death of a Well Known Citizen.—Mining Prospects, Etc.

The late acting recorder on McDame creek, Mr. John Mitchell, died at that place on the 24th May last, after a severe illness. During the last thirty days of his life he was unable to take any nourishment. The deceased was a son of Dr. Mitchell, of Wallace, Cumberland county, Nova Scotia, and arrived in this province in 1858. He belonged to the Pioneer Society of this city, and was well known throughout this country. He bore the reputation of being honest and straightforward in all his dealings, and was altogether a most trustworthy man, who will be greatly missed.

On account of continued high water but little has been done on claims located in the bed of the several creeks. From the tunnel and bench claims money is beginning to be brought in, but nothing will be received from hydraulic claims for some time, as advantage has to be taken at high water for that kind of mining, so that as much surface dirt will be removed as possible.

While J. Chaplin & Co., were proceeding in a boat down Dease river, on their way to prospect the upper waters of the Dehoire river, their boat was capsized, and they lost nearly all their provisions. A reconstruction of the company took place, further supplies were procured and the party made a new start. It is to be hoped that they will find good paying diggings. Their chances are favorable, as fair prospects were found by Mr. Chaplin on a former visit.

Trains were busy on the trail, and crops on the ranches on Stickeen were never so good.

BIG BEND MINING DISTRICT.

Further Particulars of the Quartz Discoveries in Eastern B. C.

The following particulars of the recent discoveries in the Big Bend country are from a correspondent to the Portland Oregonian: The most important of the discoveries is that made by Thomas Barret, Deputy Mining Recorder of the district, his partner, James Bell and two others. The party started from Farwell in May last to proceed to the Big Bend country. Reaching McCulloch creek, an important point intimately associated, as many old miners may remember, with the great gold excitement of '65, they prospected up the creek, and on the 10th of June discovered two quartz ledges both carrying free gold in large quantities. The westerly ledge was traced across in one direction about 1500 feet, while the easterly one was observed for 3000 feet. Shafts were sunk, and the prospectors claim that in the former a ledge two feet wide, and in the latter a foot wide, was discovered. Both the ledges contain large quantities of free gold visible to the naked eye, and from the numerous specimens brought down the opinion may be warranted that a very rich strike has been made. Owing to the heavy snow still lying on the mountains, to the high state of the Columbia and to the inefficiency of their outfit, the men having staked out their claims returned to Farwell. They have since, though largely augmented in numbers, gone back to McCulloch creek. Barrett says that when they left on June 22d, the snow lay still so deep that they were unable to complete their examination of the ledge, but there seems to be every prospect that it follows the creek for quite a distance. Mr. Grew, another experienced prospector, has since discovered, about half a mile from the Barrett claim a ledge showing visible gold, and also a galena ledge which looks remarkably well. There are now nearly a hundred men prospecting in the Gold Creek district, and steps are being taken to open up a trail, which competent authorities aver can be put through for a trifling sum.

The brothers Kaufman and Sam Martin claim to have discovered a rich galena ledge four feet in thickness, right adjoining the track of the Canadian Pacific railroad a few miles from Farwell. The ore is low grade, about 75 per cent lead, and 20 silver, but it is remarkably free from alloy, and considering the position of the ledge it can probably be worked with very paying results, providing the ledge is sufficiently extensive.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

ALBERNI'S RIGHTS.

An Albernian Tells Some of the Grievances of the Settlement.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR,—In your article under the caption of "Alberni's Wrongs," on July 7th, I, as one who has been to Alberni quite recently, and an old resident on the Pacific coast, would ask a small space in your valuable paper to hold up to the public a more correct view of the government's doings. Now, in the first place, let us understand each other in this matter. I am not a government man, only in so far as they do right by the people as a whole, whenever they fail to do that I am not with them. "O! you say, you must be an independent." In the language of the Albernians, "you bet." I claim the government has done right by employing the services of a most efficient guide, but you may say they pay him too much for his services. I don't know what they pay him, but from his looks the last time I saw him in there, after several days in the brush, I should think he would soon get a call to the Ministry, or be pensioned off. Your informant made statements, but did not give a remedy for those wrongs. About that work on the trail running up to Mr. McKenzie's, of course there is no commissioner to oversee such work, and it would cost nearly as much to have one of the officials go down there as the price paid to Mr. Mollett. The only fault I see in the matter is that the trail in places is not wide enough for packing on, let alone being sufficient for oxen and sledge, as I understood he was to do it. Now, here is where I would suggest to the government an idea, on a sound, statesmanlike, business basis that they should immediately have the settlers hold a meeting and appoint three of their number as commissioners to attend to the letting and clearing trails in advance of the settlers, thereby giving employment to those who take up land and make improvements to the amount of two or three weeks' work. Their first supply of provisions having given out, they start down and out hoping the government will have made some kind of a trail near their places before they come back. Then the next and by no means the least matter is the surveying and laying off of the country. In part your informant was correct.

I was told that one P. Comerford, a son or brother of the guide, was having some trouble, and that it could not have happened if the land had been surveyed beforehand. Now, my notion about this business is that the government should have a survey party in the field, but says the government man where is the money. I say in the settlers' pockets, and they will be glad to pay the government a fair price rather than pay the surveyor $25, as I understand is going to be charged by the one who is in there; the settlers boarding and finding four hands. This is what I claim downright imposition, and cannot uphold the government in allowing.

Now, Mr. Editor, would it not have been better if the Provincial Secretary had, when in Nanaimo, instead of electioneering gone over to Alberni and saw what we wanted there and it might in the order of things come in very opportune, as Alberni, though young, is aspiring for the honors of a constituency, and if he saw to the surveying and making of trails, etc., we might request him to be our first representative, for we know that there are worse men that might be asked to stand for those virgin honors. I would say in conclusion, that in our desperation we (Albernites) may appeal to the Dominion Government to be annexed to the Mekakahtla Indian Reserve. We would then at least be written and spoken about and receive some little notice at the hands of the government. Yours,

ALBERNI'S RIGHTS.

A Card.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR,—An item in this morning's Colonist referring to a "robbery on Broad street" yesterday, is calculated to reflect on the characters of hackmen generally. The accused, who is only a short time in the employ of the Transfer Company, is a recent arrival from the Sound. Our regular city hackmen have characters to sustain as well as other men, a fact the Colonist should recognize.

HACKMAN.

AN INDIAN SUICIDES.

A Fort Simpson Indian Prisoner Hangs Himself.

An Indian prisoner, named Peter Allen, hanged himself in the city gaol yesterday afternoon, the result of a fit of melancholy or temporary derangement. He was committed to gaol on the 28th of April for having brutally beaten his wife on the Naas River and at Fort Simpson, to undergo a sentence of six months' imprisonment and a fine of $100, or in default of payment three months' additional. Ever since entering the prison, Allen has been moody and despondent, the effect of either sickness or sullkness. The last time Mr. Hutcheson saw him alive was about half-past three in the afternoon, when he was locked in his cell. About a quarter to four he found him suspended to the grating in the cell door, by a leather strap which he had worn around his body. He was hastily cut down and Dr. Taylor was summoned. Although the last spark of life had not fled when the body was cut down, the unfortunate Indian expired in a few minutes thereafter. A coroner's inquest was held on the body to-day, the jury being composed of three citizens and three prisoners, and a verdict was returned in accordance with above facts. The body was interred to-day.

It will "Fib."

The Colonist this morning is again "fibbing." Notwithstanding its assertion that the telegraph wires were down all day yesterday it copies, holus bolus, an entire column of cable news from THE TIMES, which reached this office yesterday afternoon between the hours of two and four o'clock. The Colonist changed the heading to "A Cable Letter," but left the date, "London, July 27," as it appeared in our issue of last evening. The query now is, if the wires were down how comes it that this letter appeared in the Colonist of this morning?

Address, THE TIMES P. & P. CO.,
Victoria, B. C.

J. C. McLAGAN, Manager.

IN THE Senate the HON. MR. DE BOUCHERVILLE'S amendment for the enfranchisement of Christian Chinamen was lost by 25 votes to 21.

NEW WESTMINSTER Columbian: Our sectionalism must surely be of a most liberal kind when it extends across the gulf and takes in part of Vancouver Island! We offer no opposition whatever to the defence of Victoria, but ask that in all fairness the defence of other places not less important should be remembered. The Colonist is so "intensely sectional" that it discourages such a reasonable request, and tries to persuade itself that Victoria and Esquimalt only need protection. The plea is both sectional, selfish and absurd.

IT IS understood that MR. GLADSTONE will shortly issue a kind of political manifesto, outlining the policy of the Liberals, for the guidance of the Liberal speakers during the election. At present the latter don't venture much in the way of definite statements or forecasts. They are only making time. MR. GLADSTONE has been unable to be in the house of commons for some days. It is stated that his health has taken a very unsatisfactory turn. "Precarious" is the word used in describing it. His state of health is much worse than people think. MR. CHAMBERLAIN is also preparing a manifesto, giving a definite statement of the policy of the Radical party. This will precede his tour of speech-making through the country. He is the chief man who will appeal to the electors by his voice in the coming struggle.

THE LATE REBELLION.

The origin, progress, vicissitudes and results of the Northwest insurrection is now being written by the eastern Canadian press. A total force of 4200 troops, horse, foot and artillery, was sent into the field for active or garrison service. The cost of the campaign for transportation and supplies, the pay of troops and the losses of the Hudson Bay Company and individuals, from pillage, destruction, stoppage of trade and farming, it is estimated will cost the country from seven to ten million dollars. The casualties of battle foot up a total of 67 whites killed and 116 wounded; and 61 half-breeds killed and 82 wounded; but this does not include those massacred by the Indians. To the foregoing has to be added the constructive damages resulting from the arrest of immigration into the Northwest territory, which for some time to come must follow the disturbances of which that country has been the theater. Notwithstanding the fact that disconduct existed in the Northwest for some time back it is certain that there would have been no uprising had Riel not appeared on the scene. On the part of the leaders the revolt was an insane undertaking, which will cost those engaged therein, very probably, their lives. The government is not entirely blameless in the matter, for repeated warnings had been given, which, if heeded, might have saved the nation millions in money and the precious lives that have been sacrificed. Many of the press correspondents who accompanied GEN. MIDDLETON are asserting that to the bravery of the men more than to generalship, or skill and judgment on the part of the commander is to be attributed the speedy suppression of the revolt. At Batoche a victory was won in spite of him; he was afraid to trust disciplined volunteers to face the enemy in their entrenchments. Practically the volunteers disobeyed orders, and by a spontaneous impulse of native dash, intelligence and pluck, charged upon RIEL'S intrenchments and crushed out the rebellion by a single blow. Had they not done this it is hard to tell when the campaign would have ended. Many approve of GEN. MIDDLETON'S desire to spare lives, even if the contest was prolonged. It is to be hoped that it will be some time ere Canada is called upon to witness such a conflict again; and it will be a warning to future governments not to trifle too much with a people who are terribly in earnest to have grievances, which they consider just ones, redressed with as little delay as possible.

THE SCIENCE OF ADVERTISING.

How best to advertise what he has to offer the public, is an important problem for the business man in these days of keen competition and in many instances over-production. Many thousands of dollars are being wasted by investing it in partial or defective means of reaching the public eye or ear. It is in vain that a man makes or buys a stock of goods, rents a warehouse, hires clerks, if he does not take pains to let the buyers, far and near, know by proper means where he is to be found, and what he has to sell. Here and there are men that understand how to place before the reading community the wares they make or import. But many a one fritters away, in handbills, circulars, flaring posters on dead walls, money that he might make a better use of if he only knew it. Within the last few years it has become the fashion with some people to do their advertising in their own private way, instead of through the newspapers. Some distribute cards, some circulars, some pamphlets, some even almanacs, and some inconceivable monstrosities of oddity, circulating them by the hundreds of thousands through the mails. We cordially agree with the New York Bulletin when it states that the sooner advertisers learn the folly of their present large expenditures in seeking publicity through private means, the better for their pockets and their success. "In truth, however," says that journal, in a recent issue on the subject of "Private Advertising," "those who take notice of the flood of private announcements form but a very insignificantly small per cent of those who receive them. In short they have become to be the nuisance of both the parlor and the counting-room. The merchant and the business man finds his mail matter stuffed with these intrusions upon the serious affairs of his business, which he inwardly imprecates or impatiently consigns to the waste paper heap." Men of business who resort to this method of advertising cannot be ignorant of the fact that the people whom they would reach have become nauseated with it. They themselves disregard all such appeals for patronage; and what reason have they to suppose that others receive their applications with more patience? They must have become aware that the usage has been so utterly overdone as to make it a worse than useless business outlay. Sagacious advertisers are beginning to see this, and are returning to the old method of public announcement." It has been truly said that the newspaper is, in every sense, the best medium for advertising; and, for a given result, it is by much the cheapest, also It reaches a far greater number of possible customers than any private announcement can, and it is more certain to receive attention. The private circular is thrown aside as a thing which people have come to regard as a bore, and which is neglected because its recipients have no time to attend to it. "The newspaper is used in each day's hour of leisure, and readers find interest in reading its advertisements as well as its news, because of the variety they present and the information they convey respecting a wide diversity of interests." It may be safely estimated that an announcement made through the press is noticed by fifty readers where, made in a private way, it would reach but one. If, therefore, the same amount were expended in either case, the result would be fifty-fold better from the former method than from the latter. The experience of every one who has succeeded through advertising in the newspapers and periodicals of the day confirms this assertion. They understood the science of advertising and accordingly reaped a rich reward on their investments.

CONNECTION WITH THE C.P. R.

Our neighbors on the Sound are beginning to realize that a new era will dawn upon them with the linking of the tidal waters of the Atlantic and Pacific by the steel rails of the Canadian Pacific. The Whatcom Reveille advocates immediate connection with Bellingham Bay, and thinks that with only thirty-five miles of road to construct the prospects of that town and district are of the brightest. It will not be long, it says, before Whatcom county fruit and farm produce will be sold in the cities along the Canadian Pacific railroad. Our contemporary does not take into account the embargo placed upon the construction of lines crossing the international boundary by the Canadian government. The restriction—a senseless and retrograde one—is by some unaccountable process of reasoning supposed to be in the interest of the great Canadian highway, as a road connecting the two northern through lines might draw the traffic away from, rather than to, the Canadian road. The fear, it must be confessed even by those who hold it, if they are honest in their expressions, is not warranted by the circumstances. The construction of the branch would prove a mutual advantage to the people of the Sound and the Canadian Pacific company, and if the latter study their own interest, which they generally do, they will not interpose any obstacle to the realization of the ardent hopes of the numerous thriving centers of trade on Puget Sound. They want all the grist that can be drawn to their mill.

IT IS reported that there are at the present time at least 2000 cases of small pox in the city of Montreal. This exhibits a terrible condition of affairs from a sanitary point of view.

THE Anglo-Russian situation is perfectly simple. The ameer wants Zulfikar pass, because through this defile lies the road to Herat. Russia agrees to abandon her claim—an impudent one, at best—in return for the concession of Penjdeh. Having got Penjdeh, Russia now tries to repudiate the bargain in order to get Zulfikar, too. Russia says she never meant to surrender the hills to the eastward of the valley. But these hills are essential to the military possession of the pass, which is worthless without them. England has pledged herself to the ameer, who insists on the fulfillment of the pledge. The Russian demand has two objects, first to ascertain whether LORD SALISBURY is as "squeezable" as LORD GRANVILLE was, and second, to get rid of arbitration on the Penjdeh incident. LORD SALISBURY is disposed to convince Russia that in his opinion England has made concessions enough. Continental opinion is coming steadily around to the English side.

ODD SORTS OF OCCUPATION.

Some of the Means of Livelihood Which Civilization Develops.

[New York Sun.]

There are many odd ways of earning a livelihood in a great city like New York, and it is surprising to see how many persons there are who readily adapt themselves to new occupations. Type writing, for instance, was unknown a few years ago, and now there are thousands who support themselves by it. It has supplied a new and wide field for the employment of women, and has come into almost universal use for legal documents. The invention of the telephone has given employment to thousands in the construction of the apparatus and the attendance at telephone offices, and the number thus employed already rivals the number engaged in telegraphing.

The introduction of electric lighting has given employment to many persons, as has also the comparatively recent use of refined coal oil all over the world for lighting and heating. It is only a few years since the invention of the district messenger service and the employment of street bootblacks gave employment to an army of boys.

The successful manufacture of playing cards, which were largely made abroad until within a few years, has recently given employment to many American workmen. The canned goods industry has grown up since the war, and offers an entirely new occupation.

Photo-lithography and many other quick processes of picture-printing have furnished employment to many within a few years. There is an immense business in ready-made clothing for women and children that is of comparatively recent growth.

There are, at a rough calculation, about fifty men in the United States who make their living by hardening steel for various mechanical purposes. There are three or four who earn a living by demagnetizing watches, and perhaps about as many who adjust compasses on iron ships. There is an old and somewhat intricate occupation in the insurance business known as the adjustment of averages, and the number of men engaged in it in a great city may almost be counted on one's fingers.

There are many men who earn a living by tasting various articles of food or judging of them by their appearance. There are experts in handwring, in chemistry, in mechanics, and all sorts of things, who turn up in the courts and make litigation costly.

Civilization tends to a division of labor, so that in every profession there are men who get a reputation for some particular branch. Thus there are acknowledged specialists in law, who have almost a monopoly of a certain class of cases. Some lawyers know all about patents, and others all about admiralty; others all about landlords and tenants; others all about criminal law, and so on. In the same way the doctors take each some portion of the human body as a special study, so that the old family doctor, who undertook to doctor all sorts of diseases, is comparatively obsolete in crowded communities.

This division of labor leads to the establishment in great cities of many queer stores, or depots of supply for all sorts of odd things of which the general public knows little or nothing. There are, for instance, depots for the supply of peculiar food for the various nationalities that center in the great city. The Chinamen, the Italians, the Germans, and the Scotchmen all know where they can go and buy things that are specially suited only to their own taste.

A craze like roller-skating gives employment to many persons. American roller-skates are now known all over the world. There is an American roller-skating rink even in India. The progress of mechanical inventions, while it throws many persons out of employment, also furnishes new occupations to many, and does away with the apprehension that the machine may supplant the man.

Expense of Funerals.

Philadelphia Record.]

There are a thousand persons alive in Philadelphia to day who will be dead and buried before a month rolls around. Any one who is curious enough to consider the average cost of these thousand prospective burials as it will be, compared with the cost as it might or should be, will find himself dealing with astonishing figures. To those sentimental persons who can find adequate expression for sorrow in the usual funeral expenditure perhaps no word of reason can be usefully addressed. For them the show of grief assuages grief. But the memory of the dead is best kept green by some serviceable help to the living. If half the money that is wasted in foolish display were devoted to the maintenance of better living, the dead would sleep no less peacefully, and the surviving friends would have profound reason for thankfulness.

Taking Down Stoves Too Soon.

[Exchange.]

Housekeepers, in their haste to finish house-cleaning, often have their stoves taken down too early in the spring, and in this way bring colds, sickness and sometimes death to their families. After working in the kitchen over a hot cook-stove all the bright spring morning, it is unsafe to sit down to sew in the afternoon in a room where there is no fire. Although the bright sunshine and warm air may make a fire at midday a discomfort, yet the mornings and evenings are often chilly. If there is no open fireplace in the house, it is always safest to leave one stove up all summer, that when cold, rainy days come, as they are apt to at any time, a little fire may be had to take off the chill and dry out the dampness.

The Colored Cadet.

Henry O. Flipper, the colored cadet who made so much trouble at West Point, now holds a commission in the Mexican army, and gets along very well with the "greasers."

ART AND LOVE.

He faces the canvas (as a seer whose ken Pierces the crust of this existence through)
And smiles beyond on that his genius knew
Ere mated with his being. Conscious then
Of his high theme alone, he smiled again
Straight back upon himself in many a hue,
And tint, and light, and shade that slowly grew Enfeatured of a fair girl's face, and when
First time she smiles for love sake with no fear.
So wrought he, witless that behind him leant
A woman, with old features, dim and sere,
And glamoured eyes that felt the brimming tear,
And with a voice, like some sad instrument
That sighing said, "I'm dead there; love me here!"

Made a Purse of Her Shoe.

[Boston Evening Record.]

A colored girl, who had barely reached her teens, was asked the other day by a conductor in a Metropolitan street car for her fare, betrayed symptoms of uneasiness and began eyeing her feet. The conductor repeated his demand, and the girl began fumbling with one of her button boots, which she finally succeeded in taking off. The boot had an unusually capacious toe, and, when she had taken off this outer covering for her foot, she put her hand in its forward part and drew out, not a purse, but a tiny piece of cloth in the folds of which were a few nickels, with one of which she paid her fare. Some of the passengers tittered, but one of them asked the girl, sympathetically, why she used her boot for a purse. The girl, who had hitherto remained silent, now exclaimed indignantly:

"Them men who laugh at me oughter had their own pockets picked, as I'se had, and then they might a put their money in their boots, if they had any what wouldn't leak."

This simple and expressive rebuke and explanation told the whole story and secured for the poor colored girl the sympathy of the passengers, besides a little substantial aid.

Breaking the News to a Sick Youth.

[Lewistown (Me.) Journal.]

A Lewiston young man was sick in New York city. He and his attendants thought he was dying and sent word to his parents to come to him. After they arrived the doctor feared the shock of seeing them would kill him. How shall we break the news of their arrival to him? was the question. "Leave that to me," said the nurse. See how skillfully she did it. "Would you like to see your father and mother?" she asked the boy. He whispered a faint "Yes." "I'll send for them," she said. This, after they had come. Half an hour later she awoke him from a doze and said: "They are on the way." The boy smiled, and in a minute was unconscious again. In another half hour the nurse told him they had come, and brought them in. The boy thought two or three days had slipped by in that hour which the nurse had employed in preparing him for seeing them. He picked up, and is now in Lewiston alive and almost well.

A Remarkable Operation.

[The Rambler.]

It happened on a Pullman car between New York and Chicago. Dinner having been finished, the gentlemen assembled in the smoking room to enjoy their cigars.

"During the time I was in the war," said the quiet man, "I saw a very wonderful thing in the line of surgical operations. A friend of mine was shot through the right breast, the bullet passing clear through him. The quickness of mind of his companion undoubtedly saved his life. He wrapped his handkerchief around the ramrod of the gun, and pushing it through the path made by the bullet, cleared the wound of all poisonous lead. I know it is hard to believe, but, gentlemen, the man still lives to tell the tale."

"Which man?" inquired the slim passenger on the opposite seat, quietly.

"The wounded one, of course," exclaimed the old soldier, scornfully.

"Oh, I beg your pardon. I thought it might be the other."

Improvements in Velocipedes.

[Brooklyn Eagle.]

Since the great impulse given to the manufacture of velocipedes by their universal adoption throughout the civilized world, innumerable improvements have been patented, and one would have thought that the genious of inventors, was almost exhausted. But we hear, however, from France and Geneva of two additional novelties. A Frenchman has adapted to his velocipede a pair of sails, and in a fair wind skims along like a terrestrial nautilus, at a rate exceeding the greatest speed hitherto attained with the ordinary vehicle propelled by the feet; while at Geneva an ingenious musical box maker has actually constructed a "velocipede a musique."

Staring a Bear Out of Countenance.

[Detroit Journal.]

"Ever hear about the time I was chased by a bear out west when I didn't have a weapon of any sort about me, Blucher?"

"I never did. How on earth did you manage to escape, old fellow?"

"Tried sitting down and staring him out of countenance."

"And did it work?"

"Admirably."

"That's very strange—very strange, indeed. How on earth do you account for it?"

"I've sometimes thought that my choice of a seat may have had a little something to do with it. I selected the top of the highest tree on the entire range!"

An Organ That Sounded Like Thunder.

[London Truth.]

A most remarkable organic effect was produced in Beverley the other day. While the organist of the minster was trying the effect of his great thirty-two feet pedal-pipes, three feet six-inch diagonal, in Haydn's "Creation," the dogs and cats in the houses surrounding the minster were so seriously discomposed with the thunder of the organ pipes as to creep into dark places to avoid the lightning, evidently conceiving that a great atmospheric storm was going on.

How to Get Thin.

Detroit Lancet.]

The eating of nothing containing starch, sugar or fat, called the Banting system; the eating of fat, but not sugar or starch, called the German Banting; the wearing of wool and sleeping in flannel blankets instead of sheets, or the Munich system; not eating or drinking at the same time, or rather the allowing of a couple of hours to intervene between eating and drinking, the Schweinger system.

The Japanese Army

[Chicago Herald.]

Japan has an army of 40,000 men, a reserve twice that number, and a militia reserve of 150,000, all drilled and equipped in European fashion, having Remington rifles. Service is compulsory.

Americans projected, built and now control the street railroads of Moscow.

And that they will cure when any or all of these, singly or combined. Fail!!!!

A thorough trial will give positive proof of this.

Hardened Liver.

Five years ago I broke down with kidney and liver complaint and rheumatism. Since then I have been unable to be about at all. My liver became hard like wood; my limbs were puffed up and filled with water.

All the best physicians agreed that nothing could cure me. I resolved to try Hop Bitters: I have used seven bottles; the hardness has all gone from my liver, the swelling from my limbs, and it has worked a miracle in my case; otherwise I would have been now in my grave.

J. W. MOREY,

Buffalo, Oct. 1, 1881.

Poverty and Suffering.

I was dragged down with debt, poverty and suffering for years, caused by a sick family and large bills for doctoring.

I was completely discouraged, until one year ago, by the advice of my pastor, I commenced using Hop Bitters, and in one month we were all well, and none of us have seen a sick day since, and I want to say to all poor men, you can keep your families well a year with Hop bitters for less than one doctor's visit will cost. I know it.

—Mr. M. Baker will build a two-story dwelling in place of the cottage recently destroyed by fire.

—The Olympian brought eight horses for John Parker and fifty-three hogs for John West.

—We received from the government printer, yesterday afternoon, a copy of the "Journals of the House" and the "Statutes of British Columbia, 1885."

—It is understood that should an order for Hibbs' extradition be made, an application will at once be made for his release by virtue of habeas corpus.

—The City Council met last night, and after a short sitting adjourned until Friday night, when the report of the finance committee will be further considered.

—C. D. Rand has resumed business and has taken an office on Bastion street over Dr. Chipp's where he will carry on business as a real estate broker and insurance agent.

—The contract for supplying the Provincial insane asylum with groceries has been awarded to Messrs. Neufelder & Ross. This is the tenth year the contract has been awarded to the same firm.

—An esteemed morning contemporary claims THE TIMES to be, like itself—an opposition organ. This journal is the organ of no clique of politicians; it is the organ of the people, the public turning the crank.

—Some parties have been depositing carcasses of animals along the beach and other localities, and Superintendent Roycraft proposes to take action against such parties unless the practice be stopped.

—Mr. Hall, of Ross, Hall & Co., of the Mount Royal Milling Co., Montreal, has arrived at that city from British Columbia, and speaks in glowing terms of the climate and the possibilities of our vast and fertile region.

—Look out for him! A person giving his name as Hart, and representing himself as a member of the 42nd Highlanders (Black Watch) is said to have passed himself off on the incredulous of Portland and that he is attempting to play the same game in this province. Give him a wide berth.

—Mr. Fred Buncombe, representative of Messrs. James A. Skinner & Company, crockery merchants of Hamilton, Ont., is now in Victoria. This firm was the first in their line to enter Manitoba, and subsequently British Columbia, and is, it is believed, the only crockery house covering all Canadian territory from the Atlantic to the Pacific Coast.

—A correspondent in a morning contemporary advocates the letting by tender of the book bindery work of the provincial government. The suggestion is a good one; the system of tendering prevails with the Federal and all the other provincial governments, both in printing and binding. The matter is worthy of consideration.

—Mr. Chas. S. Fee, the general passenger agent of the Northern Pacific railway, accompanied by Mrs. Fee and Mrs. Mitchell of Portland, returned last evening by the Rithet from Yale. Mr. Fee expressed himself as greatly pleased with the magnificent grandeur of the wild, rugged scenery of the Fraser and the delight the trip had given him. He returned east to-day by the Olympian much pleased with all he observed in this city and province.

—Mrs. Waterhouse, wife of the Captain of the Thos. F. Packard, which brought a cargo of rails to Port Moody, has been very low from illness, and it has been impossible to move her from her bed for over a hundred days, and as the genial, whole-souled mate, Mr. Cairnes, says, "the sailors have had to be like children" in their movements to prevent noise. The doctors say it would be fatal to attempt to move her from the ship, and it was feared the noise occasioned by unloading the iron will have a very bad effect upon her.

THE POODLE DOG ROTISSERIE.

A Restaurant that will Meet the Requirements of Everybody.

Messrs. Hamm and Marboeuf are now ready to cater to the public in the restaurant line. Their new premises, on Yates street, have been fitted up in the very best possible style. The walls are handsomely papered and decorated with appropriate oil paintings. The furnishings are of the best description, the silver-ware and colored glass-ware, supplied by Mr. John Weiler, being especially ornate in design. The reputrtion of the proprietors, as restauranteurs, is unexcelled, possibly unequalled, on the Pacific Coast. Mr. Marboeuf began his career in the service of the Emperor Maximilian, having been in his employ as head cook and director of the kitchen for five years in Milan, Italy, and Miramar, Austria, and five years in Mexico. Subsequently he managed the "Princess Hotel," the leading house in Los Angeles, which under his supervision acquired a well-deserved reputation. He also superintended the culinary department of the Concordia club in San Francisco, and has just retired from the Driard House in this city, to embark in this enterprise on his own account. Mr. Marboeuf will attend personally to the cooking in the Rotisserie, and it goes without saying that everything coming from his hands will be of such a character as to please the most fastidious taste. Mr. Hamm's experience as steward at the Driard will enable him to preside over the dining room in the same agreeable manner that helped to make our leading hotel the most popular on the coast. It is the intention of the proprietors to keep a first-class French restaurant, where meals can be procured at all hours "a la cotte." Regular boarders will be accommodated, and regular dinners will be supplied; while a specialty will be made of furnishing family dinners, wedding and private parties. The cuisine will provide every foreign and domestic delicacy procurable—eastern oysters, terrapins, green twitles, French coffee, home-made pastries, French wines and English ales and porters. Theater goers will be accommodated with oysters, ice creams, &c., at any hour. An especial feature, is the complete cooking range, which is supplied with all the latest improvements, and Restelle's patent roaster, which goes by clock-work and does a chicken "to a turn." The prices at the Rotisserie will be reasonable, and it will be possible to get a "square" meal, that cannot be surpassed anywhere, for 25 cents and upward, according to the appetite of the guest. The amount of business that will be done will only be limited by the accommodation of the premises.

IN MEMORIAM.

Resolutions of Condolence Adopted—The Service To-night.

At the meeting of American citizens yesterday afternoon at the Consulate, the committee appointed to draft resolutions of condolence, submitted the following, which were adopted:

1. Resolved, That this assemblage, consisting of Americans and others, residing in Victoria, some of whom have served under the late General Grant, and others who have served in the army or navy of the United States, have heard with profound sorrow of the death of that illustrious soldier and statesman, and that we deem it fitting that the close of such a life shall meet with special observance.

2. Resolved, That as a mark of respect to the memory of the distinguished deceased, memorial services be held in the Christ Church Cathedral (the use of that edifice having been kindly granted for the purpose by the lord bishop,) at four o'clock p. m. to-morrow (Tuesday), 28th inst.), and that we will all attend said services, and that the church be appropriately draped in mourning.

3. Resolved, That the necessary musical aid be procured for the presentation of a solemn requiem.

4. Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to Mrs. Grant and family.

Mr. Ross was appointed treasurer and the meeting being canvassed, the sum of $200 was subscribed to meet the expenses of the service. The church decorations have been carried out by Mr. C. Hayward, according to a design supplied by Mr. Porter, scenic artist.

ORANGE BLOSSOMS.

Marriage of the Rev. G. W. Taylor and Miss E. A. Williams To-day.

At 10 o'clock this (Tuesday) morning, in Christ Church Cathedral, the Rev. G. W. Taylor, of Cedar Hill, was married to Miss E. A. Williams, late principal of the girls' department in the Central school. The Bishop of Columbia officiated, assisted by Ven. Archdeacon Scriven. There was a considerable attendance in the edifice to witness the interesting ceremony. The bride was given away by her brother. She was elegantly dressed in cream figured satin; wore a bonnet and looked exceedingly charming in her neat attire in which there was a light sprinkling of orange blossoms. The bridesmaids were Misses M. and A. Williams, her sisters, who likewise looked very pretty. The bridegroom was assisted by Messrs. C. W. Busk and F. G. Walker. After the ceremony the party drove to the residence of the bride's mother where a sumptuous wedding breakfast had been prepared. Thereafter the happy couple drove to North Saanich, from which place they will embark for the East Coast, where the honeymoon will be spent. The presents to the bride were numerous and costly, being handsome as well as useful.

The Private Secretary.

A large and fashionable audience assembled at Philharmonic Hall last night to witness the first presentation of "The Private Secretary" by the Madison Square Company. Every available seat was occupied; in fact some seats were ticketed to two different individuals, so anxious was the gentleman having charge of the diagram to accommodate all who applied. Our citizens' expectations of hearing a good play were in no way disappointed. The several characters in the farcical comedy were presented in an admirable manner. The play presented a great deal of sharp dialogue and a number of very amusing situations. Mr. Kennedy as Mr. Cattermole, is simply immense and carried the house by storm. Gillett's private secretary, Rev. R. Spaulding, could not be surpassed, either in its make-up or rendition. But all the parts were ably sustained, and to do them perfect justice each actor's name should be specially mentioned and his or her performance highly commended. It is one of those companies that has no weak points, and where each characterization is true to life. The general expression of opinion was that the performance was the best thing in the theatrical line that has appeared in Victoria for a long time. To-night, and during every night of the season, crowded houses will no doubt greet the company, as our citizens know how to appreciate a good thing in the theatrical line.

THE EXTRADITION CASE.

Argument in Favor of Extraditing Isaac N. Hibbs.

FIRST DAY—CONTINUED.

Mert E. Dimick sworn, deposed—Am assistant postmaster at Portland. It is the duty of the postmaster at Lewiston to remit a statement of money order matters and transcript of cash account to the Portland office. Have been in the habit of opening the envelopes and receiving the remittances from Lewiston. Only two were received during April. They amounted to $1650. These weekly statements arrived from Lewiston regularly until March 31st, then they were regular for the next six weeks.

John J. Murphy sworn, deposed. Am postoffice inspector; reside in Salem, Oregon. Went to Lewiston on 28th of May last. Hibbs was not in the post-office then. Directed my attention to the registration department and found that a number of registered letters in transit at Dayton office for Pierce City were not recorded as having passed Lewiston. Found that there were 401 orders omitted from the register. Then came to British Columbia to find Mr. Hibbs and found him at Harrison river. Asked him if it would be necessary to send for the fraudulent orders, or would he admit issuing them. He said he issued the orders without applications but he had not committed forgery. He showed a list giving the names of places on which he had drawn and the amount. Hibbs' attention being called to a telegram which had appeared in the papers, that the postmaster at Lewiston had absconded, he said the statement was correct. The telegram said that he got away with about $15,000 or $20,000. I asked him if he would object to giving me up the money, and he said he would. We went to Yale and officer Wise took charge of him. Turner, a guard, brought a list of money and property found on Hibbs. The total amount was $10,513 35.

To Mr. Davie—When I first spoke to him I said "Hello Hibbs." Hibbs complained that they were pretty rough in these English prisons. I told him I would try and have him well treated. I remonstrated with Wise for putting irons on Hibbs, and Wise answered me very shortly, or rudely. I asked Hibbs to go with me to Lewiston. He said he would if after getting advice he found he could be extradited. "I suppose you know" said the witness "what kind of advice he got."

Court then adjourned until 12:30 Tuesday.

SECOND DAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

Court assembled at 1:20 o'clock.

William McKeon, sworn, deposed—Think I recognize the prisoner; he came to my house on the 26th of May and registered as J. G. Wilson, Farwell, B. C.

Superintendent Roycraft produced a package of notes, which he believe were taken from the prisoner. The amount was $10,513.35 less over $500 which had been paid.

Mr. Davie objected to the money being taken from the officer.

The Court decided that the money should remain in charge of the Registrar of the Court.

To the Court witness said he paid $500 to Kittenbanch on an order from the prisoner. Had also paid small amounts for clothes and board. Had refused to pay between $3000 and $4000 of orders from the prisoner. I did not hear of the robbery or forgery for 24 hours after the arrest. I received the money from Constable Hussey.

Hon. John Goode, Solicitor-General for the United States, being sworn, gave a summary of the postal law of the United States. The law provides that any person issuing unlawfully a money order, or illegally signing or endorsing such order, or uttering it knowing it to have been illegally signed, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $5000 or by imprisonment at hard labor for not less than two, nor more than five years. There was no statutory definition in U. S. law for the term forgery, but they accept the common law definition, which was considered to be the alteration of a written document to the prejudice of any other with intent to defraud. In the witness' opinion the evidence as disclosed constituted a case of forgery in the United States.

To Mr. Hett.—We recognize the common law of England as being in force in the United States, except in so far as ordered by statutes. The blank forms of money orders when in the hands of postmasters are the property of the government. Have heard the depositions read; was present when they were taken at Lewiston.

To Mr. Davie.—By "common law" I mean as defined by the English law-writers. Wharton, an American authority, has defined forgery to be "the fraudulent falsifying of a written document to the prejudice of another with intent to defraud."

To the Court.—If extradited the prisoner would be tried in the district court of the United States in the Territory of Idaho. This is the first case of a forged money order I have known of although we have 52,000 postmasters. Whether the crime be a felony or a misdemeanor, forgery is extraditable.

J. J. Murphy, recalled—The prisoner is the person mentioned in the warrant for arrest, and was postmaster at Lewiston last April. His salary was $1200 per annum. The money order books are the property of the United States.

At this stage His Honor, Judge Crease, signified his willingness to adjourn the Court in order to allow of attendance at the memorial services.

Court adjourned until 11 o'clock to-morrow.

SUPREME COURT.

Jingles vs. Onderdonk. A case arising out of a former suit for $376.50 for charcoal alleged to have been purchased by the defendant. Judgment had been entered for the plaintiff and application was now made to have the verdict set aside and a new trial granted.

Mr. Drake appeared for Mr. Onderdonk and Mr. Eberts for Mr. Jingles.

Mr. Drake asked for a postponement of the case until the arrival of an affidavit bearing on the case which had been forwarded.

It was decided that the further hearing of the application be postponed until the next sitting of the full Court.

Theatre Comique.

The performance at the Theatre Comique last night drew a large audience, which manifested its approval of the varied representations in a manner most flattering to the performers. Prof. Young Dutchey's display of strength—lifting three anvils, weighting 350 pounds, with his teeth—was most remarkable. Between the same gentleman and Mr. Al. Stewart, a good exhibition of the "manly art" was given. New selections were presented by the other members of the troupe, and taken altogether the bill of fare was one of the best yet presented. Performance will be repeated to-night.

COLLISION.

The C. P. N. Co's. Steamers "Rithet" and "Enterprise" Collide

And the "Enterprise" is Cut in Two and Sinks Instantly.

Several Lives Believed to Have Been Lost, Possibly Four.

A Scene of Intense Excitement—Who is to Blame not Known.

About 2 o'clock this afternoon, the steamer R. B. Rithet ran into the Enterprise, near ten-mile point, when the latter vessel sank almost immediately. From J. Lenz, who was a passenger on the Enterprise, THE TIMES learns that the collision took place about 2 o'clock, probably through a mistake of signals, or possibly too much delay in giving them. The Rithet struck the Enterprise in the bow, and crashed right through her hull, causing her to fill and sink almost instantly. Both vessels were going at full speed, and the shock was a terribly one. Instantly all was excitement on board of both vessels, and a rush was made for life-preservers by the men on the Enterprise. The latter vessel carried, as near as could be estimated, forty white passengers, of whom ten or twelve were ladies, twenty-five Chinamen, and twenty Indians. A rush was made for the Rithet, and all the passengers are believed to have escaped with the exception of two Chinamen, who are supposed to have been drowned.

The mate of the Enterprise, Leach, had one arm fractured and several ribs broken; while others received slight injuries but none, it is gratifying to learn of a serious character. Miles, a cattle man, received a serious bruise on one of his legs.

The freight of the doomed boat is entirely lost. It consisted of 29 head of cattle, all of which, with the exception of six or seven, which escaped and swam ashore, were drowned. The personal effects of the passengers are still on the vessel and much of it will be completely destroyed. The Western Slope was near at hand when the unfortunate collision occurred and immediately rendered assistance. A line was attached to the Enterprise whose bow was sunk, and she was towed some distance to the shore.

The scene is described by the passengers as one of wild confusion for a few minutes. Mr. Wilson, of the Telegraph, says there is a probability that four lives were lost, two white men and two Chinamen.

The Mainland mails, which were on the Enterprise are believed to be lost.

The collision appears to have occurred through both vessels having got into a tide current, out of which neither could escape in time to get clear of the approach of the other.

The Amelia, on her way to this port, likewise observed the collision, hove to and was ready to render assistance if deemed necessary.

The company being its own underwriter there was no outside insurance on either vessel.

T. C. ATKENSON,

barrister, New Westminster, was on board the Rithet and gives the following as his version of the collision. Was resting on a lounge when I heard a whistle from the Rithet, followed immediately by a terrific crash. Ran forward and found the Enterprise and Rithet hanging together. The Rithet had crashed into the Enterprise a considerable distance, the Enterprise was going down stern foremost. There were a large number of passengers on the Enterprise; they were shouting and screaming. The cries of the women for help were pitiful. Some had children in their arms clinging to their mothers for dear life. There were a number in the water by this time, and the spectacle was a most heartrending one. The were clinging to boxes, timbers and the wreck generally. Orders were given to which was done with as little delay as possible. The officers were cool, collected and behaved with commendable deliberation and judgment rendering the passengers all the assistance in their power. As the Enterprise was going down passengers were taken off her on to the Rithet. So far as Mr. Atkenson knew no lives were lost. All the forward part of the Enterprise has disappeared; the wheel house and the rear part of the cabin is all that is to be seen.

LOWER THE LIFE BOATS

THE WESTERN SLOPE

was not far off. She was going into Cadboro Bay. When she observed what had occurred she at once started to the assistance of the wrecks. A hawser was passed to the Enterprise with intention of beaching her, but the effort was ineffectual.

The Professor.

To-morrow evening the Madison Square Company will appear in Gillette's exceedingly amusing play of "The Professor." The New York Mail says of the piece: "As a 'character study,' as Mr. Gillette plainly calls his piece, the central character is a remarkable and truthful portraiture. Mr. Gillette seems to have entered, by sympathy or by study, into the mental habits of a man buried in scientific research and the business of teaching, and his sudden relapses into the manner of the class-room are capital. His nervous starts, and the twitching of his face in consequence of his short sight, are excellent bits of acting, and he has caught a number of such characteristics of the man whose personality he assumes. A fine touch is accomplished in the sentimental way when, after falsely making love to half a dozen young women, he really falls in love with the "long-lost sister" of a melancholy young man. The incidents in connection with this are admirably interpreted. The Professor is worth seeing for the beauty of its setting and the fun of its situations, as well as for the character-study presented in Mr. Gillette's conception."

Memorial Services.

Memorial services, as a token of respect to the memory of the departed General Grant were held this afternoon in Christ Church Cathedral. The room was neatly draped with American and Canadian flags, and a large audience was present. Services were read by Bishop Hill and an eloquent oration was delivered by Bishop Paddock of Washington Territory.
